

PREPAREDNESS PLANS BEING PUSHED FAST BY CONGRESS

Opinion in Washington Grows That President Wilson Intends Appearing Before Joint Session of Houses Again Next Week

BAKER CALLS FOR MILLIONS FOR USE IN CANAL ZONE

Money Needed Immediately He Tells Legislators: Universal Service Measure Is Almost Ready To Be Sent To Solons

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) WASHINGTON, February 21.—Steady progress is being made by congress in the task of preparing for the crisis with Germany, which the majority of the Senators believe can not be fended off much longer. Indeed it is generally believed here that President Wilson will appear before congress early next week, possibly Monday or Tuesday, and appeal for authority to take the further steps for the protection of American lives and property at sea, which he has insisted will be necessary should the German "ruthless" warfare be kept up.

The cabinet met yesterday afternoon with the President and held a lengthy session, following which the impression that the President intends to appear before congress next week, gained ground. No announcement regarding the German crisis was made after the meeting.

Need Millions at Once Congress yesterday received from the war department a special appeal from Secretary of War Baker, asking for the appropriation of $13,371,000 in immediate use in construction work on troop quarters in the Panama Canal zone. "It is imperative necessary that this sum be immediately available for use," is the way the secretary expresses the need, although he does not give his reasons for the sudden emergency which calls for the expenditure of that amount of money.

Still another step, and one of the most momentous ever taken by a congress of the American people, will be the consideration and probable action on the bill prepared by the army general staff, providing for universal service in the United States. This measure is now almost ready for transmission to congress, and Secretary Baker said last night that it will be sent to the lawmakers before the close of this session. He did not say what sort of recommendations will accompany the bill.

Universal Training Bill The measure provides for intensive training of one year for all males in the United States who are capable of passing the physical requirements. Recruits are to be nineteen years old before being called to the colors. It is estimated that the measure would provide a standing army for the United States of half a million trained men.

No mention is made in the bill for the naval requirements, but the naval committee of the senate yesterday set off favorably upon the naval appropriation bill, which sets aside $300,000,000 for the use of the fighting ships of Uncle Sam. This measure also provides for the commandeering of private ship building yards by the federal government in times of national stress, and also puts the same power over munitions plants in the hands of the authorities. It contains a specific direction that the navy department shall provide for the construction of a large number of submarines, and sets aside $35,000,000 for this purpose.

An amendment to the measure which was passed by the committee, calls for the construction of fifty additional submarines, half of them to be constructed on the Pacific Coast.

WILSON MOURNS GENERAL FUNSTON

Writes Personal Letter To Soldier's Widow

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) WASHINGTON, February 21.—President Wilson found time yesterday to send with his own hand his feeling of personal loss in the sudden death of General Funston, who died of acute indigestion at his hotel in San Antonio, Texas, Monday night.

"It is with genuine grief," writes the President "that I learned of the sudden death of your distinguished husband, and I am confident that I am expressing the wish of the country when I tell you how I wish he might have been spared to us and to his country longer. The nation has lost an officer whose gallantry, capacity and loyal devotion has been repeatedly proved in recent months, as has his ability in situations of unusual delicacy requiring more than common discretion to bring to success. I send you my warm personal sympathy in your irreparable loss."

BREAK WITH TURKS AND BULGARS SURE

Austria Asked To Define Her Attitude

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) WASHINGTON, February 21.—Ambassador Penfield, at Vienna, has been instructed to learn just what the attitude of Austria-Hungary is towards the indiscriminate and "ruthless" use of submarines by her ally, Germany. Despatches from London yesterday announced that information had been received there that the American ambassador has set under these instructions already and has put it directly up to the Austrian government to repudiate the German submarine campaign.

The despatches, which came from the Reuters' agent in Vienna, says that the American ambassador delivered to the Austrian government a request for a clear-cut statement on the attitude of that government towards the submarine issue.

Ten days ago Penfield was sent his instructions by Secretary of State Lansing. The administration does not desire a break with Austria or with the other Central Powers, but is making it plain that they must define their attitude toward German U-boat war.

A break with Turkey and Bulgaria is regarded as certain to follow from the present determination of the United States government and the answers which seem probable to result from its request.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) COPENHAGEN, February 21.—The Zeitung, published at Kiel, Germany, has a brand new idea for aiding the submarine campaign. BODY OF SOLDIER HERO STARTS ON LAST JOURNEY

SAN ANTONIO, February 20.—The body of Major General Funston will be shipped to San Francisco for burial tonight.

The funeral of General Funston was held this afternoon, and was strictly military in its simplicity and dignity. The ceremony was on the parade ground of historic Fort Sam Houston, and Chaplain Perry of the regular army, read the service. "Lead Kindly Light," said to have been the favorite hymn of the dead soldier was sung.

One of the most touching features of the ceremony was the flowers which were sent by countless friends, rich and poor. The general's old horse followed the caisson, upon which the body was carried.

Capt. Fitzhugh Lee, of the cavalry, aide to General Funston, will accompany the body west.

The body is lying in state this afternoon at the Alamo prior to being taken to San Francisco. General Pershing has assumed command of the border army.

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) NEW YORK, February 21.—Former President Taft, in an address here last night before the local branch of the League to Enforce Peace, declared that "when President Monroe announced his famous doctrine, there was far more danger that it would bring about war with European nations, than would the announcement of a peace league at this time."

In explaining the objects of the league the former President declared that the "time is not ripe when the world can do without the use of force in the preservation of peace, for we can not always assume that nations, any more than individuals will always be just."

PILIKIA BREAKS OUT AT MEETING OF UTILITIES BODY

Open War Declared By Carden On Bills Made By Forbes

Open war broke out in the public utilities commission yesterday at the first meeting since the return of Charles R. Forbes, chairman. William T. Carden, the newest member of the commission, is the rebel. Three times yesterday he hurled defiance at Chairman Forbes and as a lone minority of one among the three commissioners succeeded in thoroughly arousing the ire of Chairman Forbes.

Money matters were the cause of the trouble. Two bills introduced by Forbes were up for approval. Carden held they were not properly chargeable against the commission's funds. Forbes took one look at Carden, grabbed the vouchers from Henry O'Sullivan, commission secretary, ripped them to pieces and slammed the money down on the table. Carden smiled.

The amount involved is two dollars and fifty cents. The pilikia which had been slowly piling up during the afternoon reached its climax on this two dollars and fifty cents which was the cost of two collect messages sent by Forbes while he was on the mainland. Both concern commission business—the Inter Island investigation.

Two other bills up for approval, also concerning the Inter-Island hearings, developed similar but not such heated difference of opinion. The bill of H. Humphrey Field for appearing as expert witness on his audit for the commission of the Inter-Island accounts was cut in half. The bill of H. Neitert, stenographer at the Inter-Island hearings, was ordered paid with Carden objecting.

The messages, for which Carden would not approve the bills, were sent "in plain English" by Forbes while he was on the mainland, as he stated yesterday. He feared the commission was about to hand down a decision in the Inter-Island case while he was away.

The first to Secretary O'Sullivan read: "Leaving Matsonia. Call special meeting for day after my arrival."

The second to Commissioner A. J. Gignoux, who was acting chairman, read: "Please don't render findings in Inter-Island case until my return. Forbes, chairman."

At a meeting several weeks ago, before Forbes' return, payment of charges on the messages was held up by the commission on Carden's suggestion that they would be stopped by the auditor's office on account of the wider injunction proceedings. Yesterday, the bill was brought in again by Secretary O'Sullivan and Carden said to Forbes: "I voted against payment of the charges on these messages because they are not properly chargeable to the commission."

Forbes didn't say a word. Then after he had angrily ripped the bills to pieces and slammed the money on the table he hotly asked Carden what was the reason for holding up the bills.

"Why was it necessary for you to send those messages," Carden asked in return. "I do not consider that they should be charged to the commission." Previously Forbes and Carden had clashed over whether Forbes had suggested that Auditor Field be present at the Inter-Island hearings to defend his report on the company. After much discussion over whether Field acted as auditor, expert witness or just ordinary witness, the commission cut his fee for services at eleven hearings from $25 to $12.50, a hearing and ordered the secretary to check up on whether or not Field had testified at every hearing at which he was present.

GAMBLER PLUNGED IN SEA BUT WAS SHELLED

HILO, February 19.—It was all in the line of duty so George Richardson, one of the leading lights of Hilo's crack police force, don't mind, even if he is pursuing a damaged knee. He got his man, and that is some satisfaction to one of Hilo's finest.

It all happened last week when a raid was made on the plantation camp at Pepee for gamblers. The round-up was a success, but one man broke away and ran down the bank, plunged into the ocean and swam out to sea in the direction of Maui.

George did not propose to lose any game in this way and started in pursuit, but in running down the bank slipped and fell, rolling to the bottom and bumped his knee. He has been walking with a limp ever since and would carry it in a sling if he could.

However, he did the best he could and threw stones at the swimming gambler who dodged them all. But when Jim Pekele joined in the stone throwing it was harder to dodge and the swimmer finally surrendered at discretion.

ALLEGED OPIUM JOINT IN HILO PINCHED

HILO, February 19.—Retail dealing in opium has received another jolt in Hilo, when last Friday evening Deputy Sheriff Henry Martin and his officers made a raid upon the home of Ah Fat in Waikane and seized about $200 worth of the poppy drug and its preparations.

The raid was the result of the alleged sale by Ah Fat of a smoke of opium to Ah Hin to the value of $175. Possibly Ah Hin thought he was stuck, or that the smoke was too dreamless, but the police at least "got wise" and proceeded to round up the alleged seller of dreams.

Ah Fat was arraigned before Judge W. S. Wise in the district court this morning and his hearing postponed until February 23. Meanwhile the police have charge of the confiscated poppy juice.

FEDERAL BUILDING SURVEY STARTED

Work of Making Test Borings For Foundation Is Now Under Way

Adding additional confirmation to the statement made by Byron C. Newton, first assistant secretary of the treasury, to Collector of Customs Franklin, that no time will be lost in starting work on the new federal building, a survey party was sent out yesterday to survey the site of the proposed building.

When Mr. Franklin returned from Washington last week he brought news from Newton that Honolulu would soon have the new federal building and that it would be the finest thing possible within the limits of the million-and-a-half-dollar appropriation.

At the same time, in New York, it is said, the plans and specifications for the structure are being made and rushed through to completion. Bids will be called for as soon as they are ready. Secretary Newton has announced, which should mean that the building will be under way before the end of the fiscal year.

Superintendent Forbes is making the survey on instructions received from Secretary Newton. Test borings are to be taken down to the solid base and the depths of the various holes will be measured. Yesterday the work started from the corner of the Opera House and followed a line towards the Pacific tennis courts. As soon as the survey is completed a report will be forwarded to Secretary Newton.

DYNAMITE BLOWS HOUSE TO ATOMS

Couple Sent Through Roof of Home When the Explosion Takes Place

Late on Monday night, the explosion of a stick of dynamite placed under their bed, blew Mr. and Mrs. Solomon David through the roof of their house in a lane on the Ewa side of Liliha Street near Kuku Street.

The couple had retired for the night when the explosion occurred, and so strong was it that the floor of the cottage was smashed to splinters, the walls wrecked and the bed with its occupants blown through the ceiling.

The woman was unharmed and the man only slightly scratched. He was taken to the Queen's Hospital and released yesterday morning.

The noise of the explosion was plainly heard at the police station. Mrs. David, a woman named Mary Louise and an ex-soldier named Omar Humphrey have been placed under arrest and are being held pending investigation. He is said to have sworn to get even with the whole David family as recently as last Sunday night.

Two soldiers are said by neighbors to have been seen running away from the house immediately following the explosion.

LOCAL FIRM IS SHIPPING BOOZE BACK TO COAST

In the cargo of the Oceanic liner Ventura last night when she sailed for the mainland were 442 cases of whisky brought from the Coast some time ago and stored in bond at the custom house. F. A. It is believed the liquor could not be disposed of here to other dealers because of the imminence of prohibition in the Islands.

RUTHLESSNESS BREAKS DOWN UNDER COUNTER FROM BRITISH

Lord Cecil In Statement To the Associated Press Points Out That Terrorism At Sea Has Failed To Accomplish Its Object

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless) LONDON, February 21.—The German "ruthlessness" campaign against allied and neutral shipping appears to have been a failure, according to the statements issued by authorities in London and other allied capitals.

Since the beginning of the blockade period, February 1, more than four thousand five hundred ships of all sorts, exclusive of fishermen, have come into British ports and four thousand seven hundred and seventy-seven ships have sailed through the submarine zones. Of these there have been sunk by submarines and mines less than one per cent, and when the final reports are all in, and the damage done by mines is shown, the work of the submarine in the twenty-one days that have elapsed since Germany's warning went into effect, will be greatly lowered, it is believed.

Thousands of Ships The exact number of vessels, British and foreign, that have entered British ports since the first of the month is set down by the British Board of Trade at 4514. The total of sailings and departures is given at 5291.

The Associated Press last night asked Lord Cecil, a member of the British cabinet, to make a statement regarding the effect of the submarine campaign, and he gave out the following: "The entire western Atlantic, the North Sea and the Mediterranean are now 'outlaw waters' made so by the utterly illegal proclamation of the German imperial government. We are pledged to maintain our contention against that the seas of the world are free to the commerce of the world."

"The chief effect which the German campaign of terrorism has had has been the terror it has inspired in neutral nations, and the uncertainty which it has brought to the already uncertain work of commerce at sea. The actual destruction which the submarine has wrought of warships is accomplished in small proportion to the amount of shipping that is daily moving in and out of British ports."
